Virginia Woolf
She never imagined her flesh a centerpiece until, at six, her brothers elevated her body to eye-level upon the marble mantelpiece, then scrutinized each crevice of the body, bibliophiles awed at the nubile frontispiece. Small wonder then that brain battled body the rest of her life, that no shred of peace or quietude came to her, that the whole body of her work sought wholeness, each piece, each atom anchored to the aesthetic body which replaced that physical one dismantled piece by piece in childhood. And when the body counts grew and nights rained fire, she knew no masterpiece remained. Lovers hiking found the body.

Guests Welcome

Note that Open Studios involves semi-formal presentations by the participating artists as well as studio visits and a site walk. Please dress accordingly. The program begins promptly at 2:00.

At the conclusion of the Open Studios presentations, around 4:30 pm, we will be having a short meeting for those interested in helping out with I-Park's upcoming Environmental Art Biennale (Saturday, September 19) and/or giving assistance to the environmental artists in residence during the August and September sessions. When you RSVP, please indicate if you will be able to stay on for this gathering. Your participation will be most appreciated.
